POLICY STATEMENT:

To help ensure consistency, quality and accuracy of all external communications by employees and to make sure that the Department's position on issues is clearly articulated to all external audiences.

RELATED POLICIES:

02.03.105 - Outside Employment - Compensated/Uncompensated.
01.06.130 - Public Information Policy - Media Relations
02.03.107 - Code of Ethics and Conduct - Employees
01.06.140 - Community Liaison Committee (CLC)

POLICY:

- A. Management staff are encouraged to develop relationships with legislators, local officials and local media so as to foster greater understanding of the correctional process and current issues in the field of corrections. When representing the Department at any function or when talking to the public or special interest groups, all employees shall accurately represent the Department's position on issues and provide precise information on whatever subject is being discussed. If the current position or information is not known, the employee shall acquire accurate information before discussing the issue.
- B. Management staff, by virtue of their positions, are seen to represent the Department whenever they speak, write articles or otherwise communicate with the public, even unofficially. Therefore, particular care must be taken by them to accurately portray the Department's position on issues.
- C. All employees are responsible for the accuracy of any information given about the Department in writings, speeches or any other materials and formats. See 01.06.130, "Public Information Policy - Media Relations", for more specific information on an employee's responsibility in dealing with the news media.

PRODUCTION OF MATERIALS FOR PUBLIC DISSEMINATION

- D. Employees have the right to make public presentations, publish books and articles and create audio-visual and other materials including computer software on correctional issues for profit as long as they do not use Department resources, do not produce the material on Department time, and do not represent their opinions as those of the Department. For more specific information on outside employment, review 02.03.105, "Outside Employment - Compensated/Uncompensated".
- E. Whenever an employee produces any work on a correctional issue or identifies himself/herself as a Department employee in connection with that work but is not producing the work for the Department as an employee, the employee shall add the following disclaimer to his/her work:

"The Department of Corrections is not in any way responsible for the content or accuracy of this material, and the views are my personal views and are not necessarily those of the Department."

- F. Even with such a disclaimer, however, the Department expects that any presentation of the Department's position on issues be presented accurately and that the material be factually correct.
- G. Disclaimers are not required for works created with authorization by the Department.

State Ownership of Materials, Copyright

- H. Any material, including any publication, computer software or audio-visual presentations created for the Department, belongs to the Department and shall not be marketed or sold by employees for profit. The property rights of an employee in any work created by the employee as an author-employee shall belong to the State. However, in recognition of meritorious services, as stipulated in Civil Service Rules, the employee shall be compensated at a rate of 15% of the net royalties. In addition, all requirements of 02.03.107 "Code of Ethics and Conduct - Employees", shall apply.

Use of Department Materials for Teaching

- I. Employees teaching Corrections and other related classes may use Department material for instructional purposes but may not market the material for their profit either alone or with other material they are publishing or have created. Material which belongs to the Department may, however be appended to textbooks and other instructional material as referenced and must be clearly identified as material produced by the Department. Copies of Department material for classroom use shall not be made on Department time or at Department expense.

Pre-Approval for Dissemination of Materials

- J. Prior to dissemination, copies of draft materials, including scripts, brochures, pamphlets, newsletters and any publication designed for public dissemination as an educational or public relations tool for the Department, shall be sent for approval to the appropriate Deputy Director and Public Information and Communications. Publications produced for employees are excluded from this requirement, but editors are encouraged to confer with Public Information and Communications and the appropriate Deputy Director on issues involving policy or public concerns. Prisoner newspapers are not covered by this requirement.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

- K. Employees asked to speak as a representative of the Department must first obtain approval from their supervisors. Employees are responsible for the accuracy of their statements, are expected to accurately reflect the position of the Department, refrain from personal opinion if it is contradictory to the Department's position, and are expected to contact Public Information and Communications for current information and Department positions on issues. Any fees received for such presentations shall be turned over to the Department.
- L. Employees making speeches on correctional issues on their own time and without the specific authorization of their supervisors to make a public presentation shall tell their audiences that their remarks are not made in their official capacity as an employee of the Department. Even in this capacity, employees are still expected to accurately explain the Department's position, if asked. Employees who speak on their own time may accept fees as long as they comply with 02.03.107, "Code of Ethics and Conduct - Employees" and 02.03.105, "Outside Employment - Compensated/Uncompensated".

LEGISLATIVE CONTACTS

- M. Wardens, camp supervisors, regional administrators and any employee designated by the aforementioned, as well as other staff as designated by the appropriate deputy directors, shall develop and maintain relationships with local legislators, and local officials and encourage tours of facilities and other contacts as appropriate. (See 01.06.140, "Community Liaison Committee (CLC)" for information regarding establishment of community liaison groups.) It is expected that the Department's position on
